

Position rough so that when spout nozzle is threaded into the rough, the rear of the spout nozzle flange is against the finished wall surface

